

Viva Florida: Florida Before Statehood

Florida's rich history and cultural diversity is captured with the Viva Florida traveling exhibit, Florida Before Statehood. From First Floridians and early colonies to European explorations and journeys seeking freedom, Florida's story is distinctive. This exhibit explores the development of Florida into the great state we know today, marking 500 years of Florida's history since the landing of Juan Ponce de Leon and the naming of our state La Florida.

This exhibit is designed for smaller display spaces and would be ideal for school library or other compact venues.

Building on the success of Viva Florida 500 in 2013, the Florida Department of State continues to work with partners statewide to promote cultural and historical experiences through a multi-year campaign called Viva Florida, which promotes 12,000 years of Florida's people, places and cultural achievements.
