

Viva Florida: Florida Before Statehood

Florida's rich history and cultural diversity is captured with the Viva Florida traveling exhibit, Florida Before Statehood. From First Floridians and early colonies to European explorations and journeys seeking freedom, Florida's story is distinctive. This exhibit explores the development of Florida into the great state we know today, marking 500 years of Florida's history since the landing of Juan Ponce de Leon and the naming of our state La Florida

This exhibit is designed for smaller display spaces and would be ideal for school, library or other compact venues.

General Description

This exhibit includes 11 panels consisting of a title panel, combined graphic and text panels, plus one large trade show style timeline display. Each of the eleven panels measures 24" x 36" and are contained in ready-to-hang metal frames. The freestanding trade show style timeline display measures 11' x 7.25' (including wrap-around end caps). Lights are included with the timeline only.
